FROM THE EDITOR. . .

As editor of this year's Lion's Roar, I am both proud and pleased to introduce this year's theme, "The River of Dreams." The staff has spent long hours carefully planning and completing each page ensuring that they are all thematically and visually appealing. To increase the coverage of our school year, sixteen pages have been added to last year's total number of pages, one hundred and four. I have enjoyed working on this yearbook and hope that you will enjoy reading it.

Sincerely,

Ethan L. Roberts

THANK YOU

hard work deserves a

The class of 1994 would sincerely like to thank all of those who have helped us and have made a difference in our lives.

Mr. Ekblom's contribution to West Boylston Middle/High School spans 33 years. His dedication has been evident both to members of the school and to residents of the town. Not only has he spent time as Athletic Director scheduling games, preparing equipment, and selling tickets, but he has attended a majority of events and games. He has also made sure that students receive recognition for their efforts. He also coached many sports teams over the years including baseball and soccer. It will certainly be hard to try to replace him. The class of 1994 thanks Mr. Ekblom for his hard work and wishes him all the best in the future.

For the past four years, Mr. Foley, Mrs. Bositis, and Mrs. Gruszka have been our faculty advisors. Their hard work and help has been valuable to us through the years. They have always helped us plan meetings, schedule events, and grow into a successful class.

Mrs. Tetler, our yearbook advisor, has been a tremendous help to us this year. Her endless hours of work and dedication have made our yearbook possible. We would also like to thank the following people who have worked with us and have supported us through the years. The hard work by Mrs. Roy and Mrs. Doherty with graduation allowed the ceremonyto be moving and dignified. Mr. White's leadership created successful drama events. Mr. Leblanc has been a great source of guidance for the entire class through our high school careers. The determination of the faculty and administration has allowed our years at WBHS to be fun and eventful

Finally, we would like to thank Hilton Studios, Dave and Meredith, Taylor Publishing, and our representative Paul Delaney for all of their help.

Thank you!
The Class of 1994

DEDICATION

a positive attidude and motivation equals

The class of 1994 dedicates this year's edition of the Lion's Roar to two individuals whose upbeat personalities and countless efforts have added a great deal of vitality to our school.

Mrs. Supernor has been our school secretary for the past ten years. Without her hardwork and motivation, West Boylston High School would not be able to function as smoothly as it does. No matter how much work is piled on Mrs. Supernor, she still has time to do us favors. Her spunk and charisma have made our school a fun and enjoyable place. Over the years she has become our friend because of her great sense of humor, willingness to listen, and concern for others. We will always be considered her "chicks" and we will always remember her great flair for fashion.

Before we even knew of Mr. Goodale's plans to retire, we had decided to dedicate the yearbook to him. After nine years of being a custodian at West Boylston High, "Charlie" is graduating and is "out the door in '94" with the seniors. In the years to come he will be missed but not forgotten. He has brightened our school's atmosphere with his big grin and his constant cheerfulness. Lending a helping hand has always been one of his many attributes. He is a genuine and sincere person who has been a special part of our lives.

The 1994 Lion's Roar staff hopes that this dedication will draw attention to the hard work of these two wonderful and caring people — Mrs. Supernor and Mr. Goodale — and will let them know just how much they mean to us.

"We all end in the ocean,
We all start in the streams,
We're all carried along,
by the river of dreams."

-Billy Joel

These lyrics to "River of Dreams" by Billy Joel symbolize to the 1994 yearbook staff the bond that ties our class together. Many of us have been together since Kindergarten. As we have grown and matured, we have developed as individuals with varied interests and talents. We all share, however, hopes and dreams for the future, and it is these aspirations that have moved us forward together to our graduation. We have selected, therefore, as the theme for this yearbook "river of dreams." Each section is introduced with artwork by members of our class and relates to our travel down the "river." The staff sincerely hopes that as our class continues on its way, this book will serve as a reminder of the times we shared before we each set off to pursue our individual dreams.

The Class of 2000 will remember this year as one of fresh starts and new beginnings: a new building, new teachers, new friends. It has been an interesting time of change and growth. It is a class full of energy, knowledge and ideas. Along with academics, they participate in many after-school activities such as dancing, sports, Odessey of the Mind, and Math Jeopardy. They will take with them many memories from this year, from IALAC and Nature's Classroom to the Science Fair and DARE class. They will look back at the sixth grade as a year of great times and achievements.

The seventh grade entered the Middle School this year and managed to deal with the confusion of their schedules. They enjoyed being introduced to Miss Crowton's "Zoo," but were not as thrilled with taking Channel One News Notes. The year has been full of challenges with the highlights being Metric Mania, the Science Fair, and Current Event Competitions during the school day and Intramurals after school.

The eight grade spent its final year in the Middle School involved in a wide variety of co-curricular educational activities. The class debated current social issues; participated in the Science Fair; wrote and staged puppet shows with puppets they made; met a puppeteer and watched her troupe perform; traveled to Washington, D.C.; climbed Mt. Monadnock; visited the Boston Museum of Science; and, walked the Freedom Trail. The class was also able to feature it's favorite band "TWITCH" at a Valentine's Day concert. Performing were members Josh Swalec, Michael Grimes, Peter Stratton, and Doug Taylor. The year end "graduation" ceremonies will usher this class into the ninth grade and their first year as High Scool Students. Their teachers wish them all the best in the future.

DROPLET LIFE

Since the creation of the Middle School a couple of years ago, the Middle School staff and students have been earnestly looking for an identity of their own. To make it a truly separated entity from the high school, many changes have been enacted. For example, there are separate Middle School lunches and high school teachers have been moved out of the Middle School wing and relocated to the senior wing. Middle School intramurals have been created and the junior high basketball teams have been changed to middle school teams. The biggest change this year is the arrival of the sixth graders. With this change, the middle school is complete because grades six through eight are now together. The only set back to the middle school so far is the dissipation of the National Junior Honor Society. This is because the organization is for Junior High Schools only. However, because many school systems are leaning towards the middle school concept, it is apparent that Junior National Honor Society will soon apply to middle schools.

FRESHMEN

The Freshmen class is a mix of ideas and personalities. There are many small groups of friends, but as a whole it is very close. The class went through much together with the loss of their close classmate and friend, Brian Norum.

They shared the experience of being the first eighth grade middle school students, and the boys still haven't taken their hats off since they hit the high school!

The class used to be the smallest class, but with school choice, the class has grown. The class seems divided as to their strengths but boasts brains, athletic ability, and charm!

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomore class is a combination of athletes, artists, leaders, muscians, and academically talented students. This class has a distinct reputation for competitiveness and mixed talent. The majority of the class has strongly participated in all school activities. Strong art students such as Mike Homme and Erika Berkey have lifted the sophmore class to superior, artistic heights. Sports involvement is widespread. Many teams, such as boys basketball exhibits tremendous amounts of gifted athletes. Several students in the sophomore class have scored remarkable results already in the PSAT's and are excelling in their academic studies. The future of the sophmore class will be exceptional due to the wide range of ambitious young students.

JUNIORS

The Junior class has established themselves as a small, diverse, but united class. Every individual has actively participated in a variety of different activities from Melissa Richards' involvement in sports to Joe Sugarman's interest in electronics. They have led several groups to success with honors in art, music, and sports. The class of 1995 has led this school in academics as well as activities through the years.

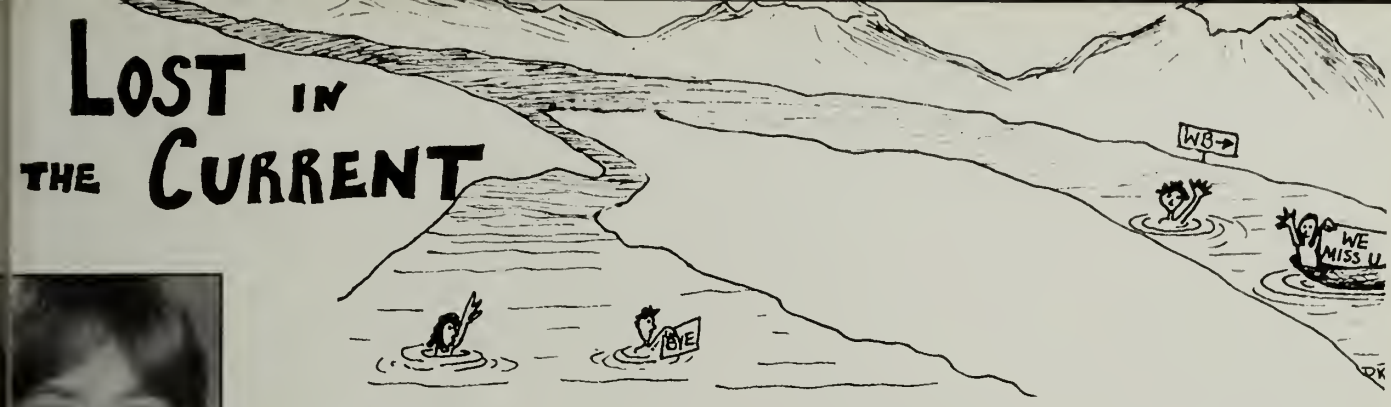
Lost in the Current



Through the years, many individuals came to and then left West Boylston High School. They became our classmates, our peers, and, most importantly, our friends. This page is dedicated to those people, who for many different reasons, found that their river, their life, lead them in directions away from us here at West Boylston High School. We'd like to say thank-you for the memories, good-luck in the future, and we miss you.

"We're as close as can be!"

Seniors pull together for a victory.

Although many members of the class of 1994 have their own "best friends," it is also true that we are one big group of friends. Through the years, we have learned to appreciate one another. Most importantly, we have learned to have fun and enjoy one another while our time together lasts.

Oh, What a night it was! As anxious anticipation built throughout the year, the much awaited Junior-Senior Prom finally arrived. On May 7, 1993, students travelled to Wachusett Country Club to finally experience their wonderful night. Almost all students danced throughout the evening and watched as Noel Charbonneau and Erin Buttrick were crowned Prom King and Queen. After the prom, students went their various ways to enjoy the end of a perfect evening.

By the end of the evening the guys gave up their ties.

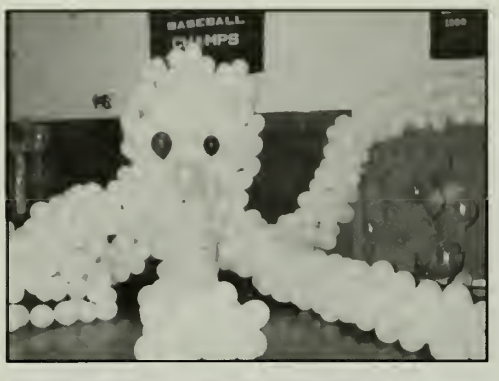
OCTOPUS'S GARDEN



Students had a wonderful time at this year's Homecoming dinner/dance, "Octopus's Garden" (Yes, that really was the theme. . .). A gigantic Octopus made of balloons seemed to be the talk of the evening. Ethan Roberts and Jamie Mulryan were crowned Homecoming King and Queen, a perfect end to an exciting evening.

HOMECOMING

What spirit! What unity! What fun! Homecoming week, as always, was an enormous hit this year. Students participated in various events and "dress-up days" ranging from a Tug of War to a Cereal Bob and Hippie Day to Class Color Day. Although all classes showed a wonderful amount of spirit, the Senior Class amazingly won the final nine events and clinched first place for the week. The Pep Rally this year had a new twist — a Teacher Fashion Show. Students modeled clothing characteristic of certain teachers in a hilarious event with "Mrs. Bullock" as the MC (Yes, we got the accent perfect). Overall, the week went smoothly and was enjoyed by all.

ALICE

Alice in Wonderland, directed by Mr. Steven White, will be remembered as one of the best productions put on by West Boylston High School. With an extremely large cast and crew, everyone worked hard to prepare the beautiful sets and costumes. Our childhood favorites including Alice, the Cheshire Cat, and the Mad Hatter made the play a huge success. Behind the curtains, we could hear the audience roaring at the fights between Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum and stirring in their seats as the Queen of Hearts cackled "Off With Her Head!" "Alice in Wonderland" proved to be a Wonderous event!

"Soup of the evening, beautiful soup."

Brian serenades the audience with "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Bat."

"Hee, hee, hee, hee, hee. . .hee. . .hee."

IN WONDERLAND

Tracy screams "Help!" as the Mad Hatter and March Hare dunk her in a pot of tea.

Becky Gill donated an enormous amount of time to her class' Senior Play, "Alice in Wonderland." Not only did Becky make her acting debut as "Alice," but she also served as the student director for the production. With over 450 lines, and over 40 people to direct as cast and crew, Becky did an outstanding job and deserves, as we in the theater would say, "A standing ovation." Thanks So Much, Bek! You made it all possible.

Love, your cast and crew.

CLASS PLAY

The Freshmen Class strikes a pose

This year, the Student Council held its twentieth annual Class Play Competitions. Each class spent much time painting sets and practicing lines. The Sophomore Class opened the evening with its "Hood of Sherwood," a farce based on the Robin Hood tale. The Freshmen presented "Cinderella With Combat Boots," twisting the traditional fairy tale. The Juniors were hoping to win with "Willy Velvet Homicide Detective. The Seniors amused the audience with "Whodunit?" a comical murder mystery. The night ended with the announcement of the winning play, "Hood of Sherwood."

The 1993 Lions Football squad was anchored by captains Matt Bianchini and Scott Desy. The team was also led by seniors Dave Lindberg, Tony Allaire, Jeff Martinath, and Matt Compton. Although the team's record was three wins and seven losses with all losses being close games, each win for West Boylston was a blow-out. Two highly memorable games were the 41-8 shellacking of Jeremiah Burke and the Thanksgiving Day Game versus Grafton. The Grafton game was special for the seniors. At the end of the game three awards were given out in recognition of exceptional performances. The George C. Cook Award was presented to senior half-back Dave Lindberg. The Best Offensive Player Award was presented to senior half-back Jeff Martinath. Four-year starter, senior Scott Desy, recieved the Best Defensive Player Award.

The girl's soccer team, coached by an excellent, tough, new coach, Bill Manzello, started off with a slow start, but ended up with a record of 6-7-2. Kelly Cappabianca, Melissa Richards, and Claudia Copeland, the tri-captains, led the team in talent and enthusiasm. Next year, responsibility will fall into the hands of the upcoming seniors. Overall, the team did a remarkable job against the bigger, more experienced teams such as Sutton. Melissa Hanscom was our goalie who is only an eighth grader. Nancy Hubbard and Robin Gordon showed gread defense. The girls hope Mr. Manzello will be back to coach year's team.

Cross Country team members: Kira Davis, Julian Marinus, and Aaron Davis

For the second consecutive year, West Boylston athletes played on Tahanto sports teams that were offered at West Boylston: including Cross-Country, Boys' Soccer, and Field Hockey. Each player aided and strengthened their respective teams. The Cross-Country team benefitted from the strong running of Senior, Julian Marinus, a Dual Valley All-star.

Without the help of nine West Boylston boys' varsity soccer players, Tahanto would have struggled immensely, but instead the team finished third overall in the conference. Seniors Dean Smith and Jim Peterson were powerful additions to the team.

The field hockey team had another great year, mainly through the help of West Boylston participants. The girls made it to the districts, with the help of two Seniors, Erin Boyle and Tracy Posson. Thanks to this exchange program, many West Boylston athletes have had a chance to shine.

TAHANTO SPORTS

Although the boys' basketball team had a losing record at six wins and eleven losses, many considered it to be a very successful year. With the leadership of the senior quad-captains Matt Bianchini, David Lindberg, Jeff Martinath, and Ethan Roberts, and the new presence of senior Julian Marinus, the boys showed a strong team unity and pride that has been lacking for the past several years. Under the direction of Coach Paul Constantino, the team showed potential to become a contender in the Dual Valley Conference. However the bigger teams, such as Hopedale, proved to be too great a match even for the hardworking forwards Brian Parker, Jason Valentine, and Ethan Roberts. Despite the disadvantage underneath, the strong penetration moves of Dave Lindberg, the leadership of point guard Jeff Martinath, and the shooting of Dual Valley Scoring Title Winner Matt Bianchini, kept the Lions in each game with an outside threat. The graduating seniors would like to wish next years' squad good-luck and look forward to coming back and watching their games.

"I'm glad I was part of the team that turned WB boy's basketball around."

Although some of this years' girls' basketball team lacked experience at the beginning of the season, they all were able to work well together and finish the year with a 12-5 record. Coach Priestly is looking forward to the young talent in the years to come, but he will definitely miss the two seniors, Claudia Copeland and Dawn Eagan, who will be graduating this year. With the help of these two players, the team made the Districts and also ranked fifth in the league at the end of the season. A truly memorable moment in the season was when Claudia scored 1000 points. This has only been accomplished two other times in the entire history of W. B. girls' basketball. With a lot of spirit and teamwork, the girls finished the season with true Lion's pride.

The 1994 West Boylston Varsity Baseball Club had high hopes for the upcoming season. The team was a mixture of all classes, but together it had great over-all experience. The team was captained by seniors Dave Lindberg and Jeff Martinath. It was also led by senior Ethan Roberts. With talented and experienced seniors and underclassmen, the team was carried by no one individual. The Lions finished the season with a 10-9 record, but the winning record does not nearly reflect the efforts of the team. After game 11, the Lion's record was 4-7. With hope apparently lost, the Lions started to roar winning six out of their last eight games making a run for the Districts. To qualify for the districts a team must win 59% of their games. The Lions won 58%.

The season was a success. It was the first winning season for a West Boylston Baseball team in a number of years. The team was also honored to have two Dual Valley League All-Stars, centerfielder Dave Lindberg and sophomore third-baseman and pitcher Bob Richardson.

The JV team also had high hopes for the season. It had a new coach, John Mackin. He brought excitement, class, and fundamentals to West Boylston Baseball. The team was captained by Bill Quinn. Every game was a battle for the team, loaded with talent from the seventh to tenth grade. The baseball teams should be exciting to watch in the future.

BASEBALL

The Golf Team's "fearsome foursome" Jeff Zidonis, Anthony Morrone, Jamie Flynn and Matt Bianchini have been an integral part of the squad's success since the seventh grade. With the addition of Mike DeVillers, Mike Pepi, Nathan Hashaway, and Jim Pedone, the team piled up a near perfect 13-2-1 record. The Lions also won their second straight Distrtict Championship led by Jamie Flynn and Matt Bianchini. Jamie placed second in the individual tournamemt with a 72 and Matt placed fourth with a 74. By winning the Districts, the Lions qualified for the State Chamionship at Stockbridge Country Club in Stockbridge, MA. There, the Lion's placed eighth led by Jamie Flynn who fired a 77 and Matt Bianchini who shot an 80.

"They're all good golfers, and they can all beat me."

This year's softball team record was split at 9-9. The five seniors on the team made up a major part of both the infield and the outfield. Kelly Cappabianca, who won this year's Girl's Softball Award, and Chandra Capone held the infield with their strong plays at first and third base. Seniors Claudia Copeland, Dawn Eagan and Lisa Bengyak helped out defensively in the outfield. Offensively Dawn Eagan, Claudia Copeland, and Chandra Capone had several homeruns this season. The underclassmen on the team will keep the program going strong next year with players also selected as Dual Valley All-Stars.

The JV Softball had a record of 9-8 this season. The girls team had a slow but very productive year. Coach Bill had another great year with the team. It was strong defensively by Courtney Copenal, Callie Curran, Nicole O'Connel, and Amy Germain. It had a strong offensive team with many power hitters such as Tara Wenneberg, Erin Dupuis, Alexis Anderson, and Eryn Muluey. Coach Bill is looking forward to a good team next year with younger kids.

"It was an interesting season, and I'll miss the Seniors."

The West Boylston Girls Tennis Team had a winning season. With last year's team returning, the girls were able to compete with many powerful schools including Bromfield and Notre Dame. The biggest upset, however, came when WB was clearly beating Doherty for the first time in years. The exciting match was called off (to the team's disappointment) because of rain. The girls will always wonder what might have happened that day...The team competed in both the Individual and Team District Competitions and finished its season with true class. This year's seniors will be missed: Singles player Diana Kershaw, and Doubles players Danielle Mulryan, Jennifer Bavosi, Sherree Lenkarski, and Natasha Cormier. Coach Irene Desrouche did a great job providing her winning team with encouragement, help with problem forehands, and , of course, "Bad Days 'Sprees'!"

"My years on the team were challenging, fun, and rewarding."

The team was led by six captains. The boys' captains were Scott Desy and Noel Charbonneau. The girls' captains were Diana DiPietro, Erin Boyle, Rebecca Gill, and Melissa Richards

On May 13th, six athletes attended the districts. Scott Desy placed sixth in the discus, Michael Homme participated in the high jump, and Noel Charbonneau ran in the 220. Worth "Wading" For...

June 3 1994

This is the time to remember

Prom '94 began on a sour note, overcast and drizzly. However, the rain did not dampen anyone's spirits, as the Prom started at the Worcester Marriot. After the formal pictures were taken, the crowd sat down for their dinner. As the students finished their meal and heard the music, the dance floor got more and more crowded. The room heated up as the crowd grooved through the evening. The night's events were capped by the announcement of the court and the King and Queen, Joe Levins and Sara Flink.

The Juniors get down!

Sam and Joe dance royally.

What a group of beautiful ladies!

Melissa and Jamie take a break.

Smile, Dave!

Banquet

On Tuesday, May 31, the Senior class held a banquet at the American Legion. This first-time, senior week activity was catered by Mrs. Marcia Bianchini who made a delicious Italian dinner. Mrs. Gruszka taught the class the Electric Slide and grooved to music played by Mike Lavoie. Although most of those who were able to attend made an appearance at one time or another, the hall seemed empty because of its extremely large size versus the very small number of people in the class. However, those who did attend had a memorable evening eating and socializing with their classmates.

Mrs. Gruszka gets down while Mrs. Bositis cleans up.

Fred & Mike anxiously wait to be called for dinner.

Jamie, Steve & Dave hope to get brownie points before grades are in.

Class trip and Baccalaureate

"Hey, guys, where are the studs?"

Seniors traveled to Frank Davis Resort in Connecticut for a day of games, fun, and sun. After "CooCoo" laid out the rules, the class was able to chose from basketball, tennis, horse shoes, soccer, volley ball, swimming, mountain bikes, and many other activities. After a short downpour, everyone was ready to do their own thing. Hamburgers, hotdogs, lemonade, coleslaw, and fries were devoured by all during lunch which was followed by boat races between schools. Unfortunately, WB lost because its boaters ran into a sandbar. While some lounged around the pool or dove off the high diving board, others participated in field games. After dinner, Mrs. Bositis received an award for eating the most chicken out of all the advisors from all of the schools present. Everyone piled into the bus and settled to watch "Mrs. Doubtfire" on the way home.

Parents, friends, and the Class of 1994 laughed and cried at the Baccalaureate service on Thursday, June 2. Diana DiPietro and Ethan Roberts reflected upon their memories of the years spent together as a class. Deana Riganati, Alyssa Wolfe, and Claudia Copeland read Biblical passages while Sherree Lenkarski, Erin Kelly, Tracy Posson, Erin Boyle, Trina Sears and Lisa Bengyak read poems. Mr. Joe Garofoli captured the essence of the evening with his humorous and sentimental words. Through a slide show with pictures of classmates, the town, and the school, seniors were able to say good-bye to West Boylston. After thanking their parents for their support and love by presenting roses while the song "The Rose" was sung, Seniors filed out to Mr. Lou Lavoie singing "On Eagle's Wings" accompanied by Mrs. Mary Been. The class thanks Rev. Wefald for all of his hard work in leading the planning of the service.

Diana & Tracy smile for a picture before heading to the pool.

Graduation

The school year finally came to a close on June 3, with the arrival of Graduation Day. The Senior Class marched in to the ceremony with a sense of sadness and anticipation. Sherree Lenkarski, class president, opened the graduation with an Address of Welcome and an expression of gratitude towards all of the people who had made an impression on the Senior class, especially Mr. Goodale and Mrs. Supernor. Salutatorian Diana Kershaw then spoke to the audience about "Looking Back" and her experiences and education with the class. Honors speaker Ethan Roberts then delivered his speech on "Seizing the Day" and the opportunities gained from living in a small town. Valedictorian Julian Marinus finished up the student speeches with his commentary on the future and "Moving Forward." The Senior Class then sang its class song "These Are Days" by 10,000 Maniacs. Principal Francine Bullock passed out the awards and gave her message to the class, mentioning the risks and opportunities in life. School Committee Chairman Salvatore Bello then gave his piece of advice to the class, saying "Life is hard, especially if you are stupid." The moment finally arrived when all the diplomas were given out. The Senior Class exited the ceremony with a sense of nostalgia and relief. Outside, the congratulations and hugs were exchanged between the students and their loving parents and friends.
